Parent-2-Parent Advocacy Training Program will help you better understand...

- System of Care
- Mental health, school, juvenile justice, and insurance systems
- Mental health disorders, behavior, and effective discipline strategies with children and youth
- How to find resources within your community
- The special education process and how to advocate for children and youth within that system
- How to feel prepared to use your best communication skills when advocating and partnering with families in need
- How to feel prepared to run or co-facilitate a parent support group

You can be an active and effective advocate and support to other parent/caregivers in your community!

This training is a pre-requisite for the Family Support Specialist Certification Training**

*This training is funded in part by the Tennessee Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services
